Teaching is a calling.
Teaching at a Catholic School is a vocation.

I had great teachers when I was growing up and wanted to be a teacher since pre-school with Mrs. Pelan!
Mrs. Kate Nienhueser

It always felt good when I was able to help my classmates with their homework. Math was always something that came easy to me, and so it was something that I felt I could help people with.
Mrs. April Sypal

Mrs. Ashley Emswiler

Why did you become a teacher?

My dad instilled in me a deep love of reading and learning, and my desire to become a teacher grew as I learned from my elementary teachers, especially Sr. Edith Marie.
The world desperately needs strong teachers to teach students the Joy of Truth and living a life for Christ, and I feel this mission deep in my heart.

Mrs. Katerina Jakub

Mr. Roy Emory

Mrs. Kovar

Ms. Jean Brown, Mrs. Teresa Pokorny, Mrs. Ann Heeremann

Mrs. Jessica Miller

Mrs. Rachel Wisnieski

I've always loved helping people understand new things, and I love seeing someone finally understand something new. I get to do both of those with teaching. Ms. Lizzie DeWispelare

Mrs. LaDonna Naiberk

This year's theme, Verso L'alto (to the heights/top), has guided us as we reach to the heights in forming human disciples of Jesus Christ!

Our Catholic Schools would be nothing without the great efforts and sacrifices of our teachers. In this issue, we are acknowledging the outstanding work of our teachers. These men and women are models of integrity, intelligence and most importantly faith. Aquinas has benefitted from teachers who have given 10, 20 and more than 30 years of teaching to our students and our community. We thank them for their commitment and dedication to our school.

We continue to look towards the future. Please consider Aquinas in your estate plans. Could Aquinas be one of your children and receive a legacy gift.? We are always in need of allocating funds to go into the general fund account for maintenance and upkeep of the school. Additionally, there is a need to support the Guardian Angel Scholarship Fund as we help keep tuition affordable for our families. Your gift will have endless possibilities. Thank you for all you do for school!

Continued prayers of gratitude for you and your families,

Fr. Michael Ventre
Chief Administrative Officer
